The Troubles Of A Queen

When blonde, blue-eyed Jean Macdonald was crowned "Miss Varsity of 1946", she didn't realize what she was letting herself in for. The ceremony didn't end with the coronation, no fear, there were many other organizations who wished to capitalize on her femininity. She was presented with a beauty kit from Helena Rubinstein, four tickets to a supper dance at the Royal York Hotel, a suit or dress from Simpson's, a ticket to the Anchor Ball, a coldwave permanent (absolutely free), a slack suit (likewise), a glamor pin, a camera study by Pasquale d'Angelo, the famous glamour photographer. Isn't it tiresome being a Queen and having to go to lectures too.

From College To Broadway

From the Syracuse Daily Orange we learn that a lecturer in radio gained a part in a Broadway show. That isn't bad though it certainly taxes the imagination to picture a college professor playing the lead in any major production.

The CUP Song

After much burning of the midnight oil, and much exercise of the brain, we have come up with this amazing CUP yell. It runs like this:

Not the AP . . . Not the BUP . . . Not the CP . . . Not Taas . . . Not Domei . . . Not Reuters . . . Not the INS . . . Not the NANA . . . BUT THE CUP. Ed. note: The CUP gives Canadian College Coverage from Coast to Coast.

"Rep By Pop"

The University of New Brunswick has had its share of fireworks as far as Student Society meetings are concerned. Recently a petition was presented to the Student Representative Council supporting a Council which is elected by representation. There was a great deal of controversy over the question, and finally the whole was held up until a plebiscite had been held on the question.

Another Queen

The staff of the Daily Orange became very tired of running pictures of beautiful co-eds, who were being nominated to the position of Campus Queen from time to time. Therefore they ran a blank space with a big question mark in the middle, and nominated this to the regal position, calling it Miss Nobody. That is all very well if there are too many competitions underway, each giving an excuse to display feminine pulchrititude. Personally, however, we have no objections, or didn't you see a copy of The Daily yesterday?

One of the publicists of the UBC War Memorial Gymnasium was the father of a son the other day, and the committee in charge of the whole affair decided that it would be excellent publicity if his first name should be "Gym". The father refused to consent, and at this date the matter is being referred to the child's mother.

We read in the Ubyssey that UBC is to hold a short course in the art of canning. We know many people who get canned regularly, but they never had to take a course on the subject, however they did do a lot of research.

LPP Are 'Ins' Liberals 'Outs' At Assembly

Switzman Premier, Chipman to Lead Opposition Party

The Mock Parliament convenes tonight in the Union Ballroom to hear and discuss a bill on the Canadian housing situation. The Government this session is the Labor Progressive Party; the Prime Minister John Switzman. The Liberal Party is His Majesty's loyal Opposition, under the leadership of John Chipman.

The Bill will be presented to the House, whose members include Progressive Conservatives, members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, and Independent as well as the party now in the majority and the Opposition, by Norman Nerenberg. He is the LPP Minister of Reconstruction.

The Labor Progressive Party has drawn up a bill which if it becomes law, will give the Federal Government, through a National Planning Agency, and through municipal administration, direct control over the housing situation. The Government would see to the erection of 50,000 homes annually during the next five years. The first 50,000 would go to veterans and all would be within the rental budget of a family with a $1,500 annual income. Previsions have also been made for the purchase of inexpensive homes over a period of time.

The Bill includes, too, a system of priorities whereby materials are available for this type of dwelling, for schools, and for hospitals before they are offered for other uses. Provision is made, also for research on building materials and techniques.

Liberals and CCF have drawn up amendments to be presented at this evening's session, while the Progressive Conservatives have declined to propose any changes in the Bill.

The CBC will broadcast a part of this evening's discussion, to which all interested are freely admitted. Professor Raphael Tuck will be Speaker of the House.

PLATFORMS

Platforms of those nominated for the positions of Vice-President of the McGill Union, Secretary of the McGill Union, Representative to the Advisory Athletics Board, and Secretary of the Women's Union must be handed in to The Daily office tonight at 6 p.m. They will be limited to 150 words each.

Platforms and glossy pictures of those nominated to the positions of President of the Students' Society, President of the Women's Union and President of the McGill Union must be handed in tomorrow night at 6 p.m. Platforms will be limited to 400 words in the case of Students' Society President and 300 for the other two posts.

McGill Debaters Eye I.U.D.L. Cup As Season Ends

Shatner and Rosenfeld Will Meet Middlebury For Return Contest

The McGill Debating Society has two more contests scheduled before it finishes its activities for the season. Tomorrow, the IUDL teams oppose St. Patrick's for the Canadian University crown while on March 8, a team journeys to Middlebury Vermont for a debate.

The cherished IUDL cup will be at stake when McGill and St. Patrick's debate the topic 'Resolved that every able-bodied Canadian youth should undergo one year's compulsory military service.' The affirmative team of Conrad Shatner and Jim Hemens will play host to the Ottawa team while the negative duo of Isadore Rosenfeld and Ted Hugessen will travel to the Capital City.

McGill has never won the trophy as yet but the Debating executive is hopeful that this year will see the long-awaited event. The affirmative team is the sole one in the eight universities entered to win a debate while the negative team was one of three to win a unanimous verdict.

This debate is scheduled for the Union Ballroom Thursday night at 8 p.m. The panel of judges for the event presents an impressive array of adjudicators. These include the Honourable Lucien H. Gendron, K.C., one of Canada's top criminal lawyers and a former Minister of Justice and Secretary of State; Reverend Gordon H. Burgoyne, minister of the United Church, president of the Prisoners' Aid and Welfare Association, Canadian manager of the British-Dominion Emi-

Deadline Is Set For Ordering Of 'Old McGill'

Reward Offered For Prize Snaps Of Campus Life

Orders for Old McGill 1946 will be accepted after 5 p.m. on Thursday, Feb. 28. This step has been taken in order that the printers may be advised of the number of copies that will be required, stated Dan Lortie, sales manager. He went on to say that veterans could still obtain the order cheques at the Tuck Shop or in Walter's office in the Arts Building. These should be returned to the Tuck Shop before the deadline. Non-veteran students should sign the lists posted in various buildings.

This year's annual has been enlarged, and a reduction of one dollar in the former price has been made. A feature of this edition is an enlarged Campus Life section. Snapshots for this part of Old McGill are still being accepted. The Annual Board is offering cash prizes of $50 for the best prints submitted. The prints will be judged for the interest they hold for the general student body.

The clubs and societies section will also be closed this Thursday. Miss Fyles, editor of that section, suggested that clubs which have not as yet handed in a write up should do so as soon as possible.

The Annual is scheduled to appear around the end of April.

Campaign Chairman's Message

Air Vice-Marshall Frank S. McGill, campaign chairman of The Graduates' Society War Memorial Campaign, has presented to all students the following statement:

You, the undergraduates of McGill, are being invited to contribute in a campaign to raise the necessary funds to complete the McGill War Memorial which will form an addition to the present Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium-Armoury, thus completing McGill's Athletic Centre.

As chairman of that campaign, it is my privilege to support the appeal to you with an explanation of the motive behind our 1946 solicitation.

Through the 1945 campaign conducted by the Graduates' Society, just over $500,000 were subscribed for the Memorial Hall and Swimming Pool which will abut upon the Gymnasium-Armoury. Materials and labour permitting, we hope to begin building next fall.

Now, the McGill War Memorial Continuing Campaign, 1946 has opened, and the target is construction of a combined rink and auditorium to adjoin the Swimming Pool. The Graduates' Society is sponsoring this appeal as well; not from a desire to try to amass a large fund, but because graduates last year indicated they considered the original idea behind the Memorial—fitting tribute to the fighting men of McGill—would be sacrificed were the Memorial left incomplete.

To you, I appeal for all the support you can give to this 1946 Continuing Campaign. All of you, I know, agree that no finer memorial could be conceived. In rendering homage to our fighters, we also endow our university with a sport unit which will help to instil the highest instincts of good citizenship in succeeding generations of young Canadians who attend McGill.

Remember: The men for whom this Memorial is designed did their job; all of their job. We can do no less than emulate them. We cannot let them down. It is the supreme moment for team work by graduates and undergraduates alike. Our appeal will be directed principally to those who are proud to call McGill their alma mater. But we feel that you who are still at the university also will welcome the opportunity to express in the most satisfactory manner your admiration for, and gratitude to, the fighting men of McGill.

U. de Montreal Confers Degree On McGill Dean of Dentistry

"We are but one part of our whole National Health structure and must bear in mind that we are not merely members of a profession performing specific skilled services, but citizens making both a purposeful and unconcious contribution to the common life" stated Dr. L. Walsh at a ceremony in the University of Montreal last night.

The degree of "Doctor of Dental Surgery (honoris causa) was conferred upon Dr. Walsh, by the University of Montreal, at a ceremony which opened with a dinner in the Cercle Universitaire. Dean of McGill's Dental Faculty since 1927, Dr. Walsh has served as chairman of the Canadian Dental Association and the American Association of Dental Schools, and has collaborated on a number of occasions with members of the U. of M. dental faculty and dental teaching projects.

In speaking of the progress in the dental field Dr. Walsh said "Dentistry has now reached the stage where it can serve the health of people of a nation as effectively and as thoroughly as do other branches of the healing art." He went on to speak of the great 'brotherhood' which had grown up between the French and English peoples, of Quebec, and between the peoples of Canada and the United States.

Guests of honour at the dinner included Mgr. Joseph Charbonneau Mgr. Olivier Maurault, rector of the U. of M., Dr. F. Cyril James, Morris Wilson, Hon. Alphonse Raymond, president of the board of administration of the U. of M., Dr. D. P. Mowry, chairman of the board of governors of the College of Dental Surgeons of the province of Quebec, and Dr. Ernest Charron, dean of the faculty of dental surgery of the U. of M. members of the Dental faculties of McGill and the University of Montreal also attended.

Pre-meds Will Dance At Berkeley Friday

The Pre-Meds are climaxing their season with a semi-formal to be held in the ballroom of the Berkeley Hotel. This social will take place this coming Friday, March 1, commencing at 9:00 p.m. The five-piece orchestra will "give with the swing and sway" until 2.00 in the morning.

Refreshments on the house will be served in the dining room of the hotel around midnight.

Tickets are now on sale in the Union Tuck Shop at $2.00 a couple. An invitation to this semi-formal is extended to all faculties.

RED & WHITE REVUE

Scenery construction periods will be held at the following times this week: Wednesday morning at 9.30. Thursday night at 7.00. Saturday morning at 10.00.

Will all those participating in the Second Act please come to a rehearsal in the Lower Gym of R.V.C. at 7.45 p.m. tomorrow. It is very important that all concerned put in an appearance.

From Student's Society President

The Graduates' Society is going to build a hockey arena through the continuing of the War Memorial Campaign. This is the best news we have had in years. To my mind the rink-auditorium will be of the greatest importance and a tremendous addition to our athletic facilities.

Its benefits are multitudinous. Our hockey team will benefit immeasurably as practice and games will not be limited. Interfaculty and interclass hockey and skating will be rejuvenated. The surplus in gate receipts will benefit the entire athletic program and the name of McGill will be held in even higher esteem throughout the country. The arena may be used as an auditorium for concerts, meetings and convocation.

Our part in the campaign is not a small one. Each and every one of us must participate if we are to expect the graduates, who are relatively far from University life, to support the McGill War Memorial. When your canvasser approaches you, greet him with a solid "yes," as each "yes" that our canvassers receive will be increased one hundred fold by the Graduates' Society.

There is no greater cause—a fitting, living memorial to all those men of McGill University who served and died in this last Great War.

B. S. Fenton Elected Head Of MWSAA

Candidates to Vie For Exec. Posts In Women's Union

Barbara Fenton, past president of the Red Wing Society, has been elected president of the McGill Women Students' Athletic Association by acclamation, according to an announcement by the president of the Women's Union, Merelie Cayford, last night.

Candidates for the positions of President and Secretary of the Women's Union will present their platforms in the R.V.C. Common Room Friday, March 1, at 4.30. Nominees for the presidency are Eleanor Baxter, Hedwig Brown and Barbara Jackson, while Joy Mackay, Mary Mitham, Ann Ryan and Alice Trevis have been nominated for the position of Secretary of the Women's Union.

The President and Secretary of the Women's Union are elected annually in March, by a ballot of the members of the Women's Union. Their tenure of office extends from July 1 to June 30. The president is an ex-officio member of the Students' Executive Council, and has residence in R.V.C. during her term of office. Other officers on the executive of the Women's Union are elected in the fall, in order that the Women's Union shall at no time be under the direction of an executive, all of whose members are inexperienced with regard to the activities of the Women's Union.

Expect Students To Spur Grads

The War Memorial Extension Campaign begins today on the McGill campus and will last until March 8. During that time every student will receive a questionnaire to be filled out and returned to representatives scattered throughout the various faculties and schools in the University. The purpose of the questionnaire is to ascertain what students were attending McGill last year, which of these contributed during the 1945 campaign, and which of the new or veteran students intend to do so during this drive.

Attached to these forms will be pledge cards similar to those used last year enabling a student to postpone his contribution and spread it over a period of time.

The drive has been planned to spur the graduates to maximum support of their part of the campaign which is being held between April 23 and May 7. Towards this end the campus committee has adopted the slogan, "One hundred per cent. participation." As has been previously announced, the funds are being raised to build a rink-auditorium as an extension to the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium-Armory.

At meetings held by the Graduates' Society last year a number of graduates expressed the opinion that it would be a mistake to conclude the campaign before full advantage had been taken of "the momentum, enthusiasm and organization which had been created by the 1945 effort." It was pointed out that the Auditorium feature would be "of great value for indoor convocations, mass meetings, concerts and the like."

"A rink for McGill would make McGill hockeyists independent of the now almost hopelessly restricted practice facilities at the Montreal Forum," stated Mr. William Sellar, Campaign Secretary. "It would multiply many times the number of active participants in hockey. Incidentally, by its availability for general skating, ice carnivals, public meetings and entertainments, the rink - auditorium would be a source of goodwill extending far beyond the bounds of Montreal. As a self-supporting unit its surplus revenues would assist the general program of student activities."

Mr. Sellar explained that when the war Memorial question was first discussed it was decided that the McGill Memorial should be not only a commemoration of the active war service of some 5,500 McGill men and women, but should also be useful rather than monumental.

The gymnasium when completed will lack nothing in physical education facilities. In addition to the enlargement of the gym itself to seat 1,000 extra people, a swimming pool will be constructed in a

McGill's Athletics Director Says:—

Owing to the many demands upon the Forum, our teams have been greatly handicapped for lack of practice hours. When practice hours were available, they were never as convenient as we would have liked them. Although our teams have invariably put up a great effort in the face of difficulties, I feel that this has been unfair for them and that their performances would always have been a great deal better, and their enjoyment considerably greater had we had our own facilities. The benefit which will accrue from having our own rink are many and varied. It is our hope that student participation in athletics will be greatly increased, and that to an appreciable extent the Student Body as a whole will benefit directly from certain hours being made available for the more important interfaculties and interclass games and for general skating.

The Student Body will also receive indirect benefits from the revenues which will result from the rink as a self-supporting unit. As I visualize it, the rink building will be suitable as an indoor sports arena for track meets and other events. Additional revenues mean more and better equipment for all our athletes, and a generally more varied program of activity.

The Auditorium aspect of the rink will be of equally great importance to the student welfare. We will then be able to stage our concerts, entertainments, student rallies and, in unseasonable weather with out-door convocations not feasible, the rink-auditorium will offer an alternative locale with a truly McGill atmosphere. We can quite confidently predict that we will be able to make full use of every available hour in the rink-auditorium.

It is my conviction that when these new facilities—the swimming pool and rink-auditorium — are added to the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium, the athletic activities of all the students will be broadened and improved.

These facilities are not easy to come by. The great success of the Campaign of the War Memorial to date has been made possible by the extremely hard work and generosity of 5,600 of our graduates, and the fine effort which was organized on the Campus last year. The 1946 Campaign on the campus is a challenge to the entire student body, in view of the direct benefits to the students which it will produce, to show the Graduate Society that we appreciate their efforts and will do all in our individual powers to make the Campaign on the campus an outstanding success.

We are proud to remember that it was McGill University which promoted the first group of teams to play organized hockey under an established code of rules. It is of interest that we have in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium a hockey stick used by Lewis Skaife, Captain of the McGill Hockey Club in 1878. There is also a cup, emblematic of McGill's championship effort in the season 1883.

As the birthplace of organized hockey, McGill merits its own hockey rink. Help give McGill hockey players equal advantages with those possessed by the University of Toronto and Queens, who have had rinks for years.

CUP WIRES

MOUNT ALLISON UNIVERSITY: First big social event since coed week took place here on Feb. 23 when Mount A veterans staged their Ball. The Gym was completely decorated with flags, airplane propellors and colored lights. To add fun, souvenirs and paper horns were dropped from a huge flag suspended in the middle of the ceiling while novelty and spot dances made thing more interesting.

During the course of the evening there was a half-hour broadcast over station CKCW, Moncton. Refreshments were of a generally satisfactory nature. The vets went all out and the event was a huge success.

WORLD EVENTS

OTTAWA: The federal government made public yesterday afternoon copies of the two orders-in-council issued on October 6 of last year and the other signed on February 5 this year in order to make plain to the Canadian public and also to Moscow the conditions under which the Royal Commission probe of espionage was being carried out.

BOMBAY: Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, at a mass meeting last night demanded an open inquiry into the grievances of Royal Indian seamen who went on strike last week and into what he called police and military repression in Bombay.

PARIS: France yesterday ordered the closing of the Spanish frontier, and the Council of Ministers decided to call again on the United States and Britain for a common policy in view of the "Spanish danger."

Election Responsibilities

In recent years the word "propaganda" has come to be applied in a derogatory manner to principles and ideas which are presented to the people at large. The modern practice of propaganda, which was so recently perfected by the Germans, consists of repeating the same fact over and over until it becomes part of the conscious or unconscious credo of the general public. This plan worked with staggering success in countries about to be occupied by our enemies, making them "soft" for the final death-stab. After occupation these countries were then exposed to further propaganda in order to make sure that the people would not be too obstinate. Propaganda has also been employed successfully in elections and political campaigns.

The University campus, not unlike the world of politics, has its share of campaigning and propaganda. Next week will see the major administrative positions of the self-governing body of this University elected for the following year. It is hoped that students will have an opportunity to hear and read the platforms and plans of those who have been nominated for the various positions.

It is most essential that students listen to the words of election speakers at a possible mass meeting most carefully and study the platforms as they will appear in The Daily. The electors should judge whether a platform is a refined form of propaganda or a sincere summation of a candidate's belief. The electors should attempt to learn as much as possible of the candidates' qualifications and abilities, and then vote accordingly, and not because a friend advises that so-and-so is a "sound" or "solid" man.

The platforms which will be printed in this paper within the next few days will perhaps contain a number of wild promises by a candidate in respect to the improvement of some existing conditions and sporting the ever-popular item of better social activities and the like. All this, he may claim, will be done if he is elected to a particular office. These factors alone can never be the deciding factors in electing a candidate. The candidate himself, his executive and organizing ability, his maturity and sense of proportions in dealing with important decisions as well as his promise in a platform or speech, and last but not least, the amount of time he will be able to devote to the office he is seeking—all these factors should be considered most carefully.

These are the responsibilities of an elector, for only if his free vote is cast intelligently, without bias and the influences of propaganda, can the institution of student-government flourish at McGill. Only then too, can the candidates be expected to do justice to the offices which they fill, for they will surely be the best men available for the positions. — C. W.

Time and Tide

Muskox

Muskox is off, and writers everywhere have sharpened their pencils, to record in heroic prose and verse, this epic of the North. Our own C.U.P. has produced a poem on the soon-to-be-famous expedition, and although it is not heroic, matter of fact, not even serious, we reprint it as a good example of News coverage done in Feature style.

Jeffrey E. Aronin is taking part in the expedition as official CUP Correspondent.

"Kabloona" is Eskimo for White Man. On that subject, we recommend an excellent book, published some years ago: "Kabloona", by the French author, Gontran de Poncins. It is possible that the incident mentioned in the last verse is from that book; in which case it would be a true example.

Thus, from "The Manitoban", we present:

Kabloona:

The Northern Bright Light

By DEWY

Aronin an' the groanin'
Muskox by his side
The white men with Aronin
(The Kabloonas) gently sighed:

"When the sun has gone to rest
For six months he's at his best,
Oh it's lovely
A 'roamin' with Aronin."

The Esqui's and Aronin
Are scattered far and wide,
A 'roamin' in the gloamin,
Arctic countryside;

When the sun has gone to rest
For six months he's at his best,
Oh it's lovely
A 'roamin' with Aronin.

The moanin' Jeff Aronin
Remembers how he tried
Of northern folks their "loanin'
Hospitality" . . . "Hell, he cried,

"All I did was ask to rest
In their igloo as their guest . . ."
Oh it's lovely
A 'roamin' with Aronin.

But he grabbed his furry clothin'
And from Churchill, home he hied;
For the Esqui's: fear and lothin' . . .
'Cause one loaned to him his bride!

The Column

—Harry Garfinkle

H. G. WELLS

The works of H. G. Wells have been coming regularly for close to fifty years; and as a result he has been taken for granted, rather than evaluated. First and last his work has been dedicated to ideas and to their solution via scientific discovery and organization. And since, apart from Upton Sinclair in America, this genre of writing has had little support in modern times, when psychological plumbing and proletarian realism have been the dominant motives, a few words of criticism are not amiss.

First of all Wells has the most emancipated women characters appearing in the writing of any male writer (Virginia Woolf having made an advance on him). Secondly, his is the theme that breeds no pessimism or frustration. People use their intelligence and solve their problems, or fail to do so because their approach to the problem was not a cosmic one. Thirdly, the scientific knowledge of the past half century can be understood better through his characters than in the best of the popularizers. Fourthly, his morality is one of honesty and loyalty, and this makes him almost the best of writers for adolescent generations. Alas, of course, that his characters are types and not humans, but in that too he mirrors reality. When the personal character of each person will come to stand for a multiplicity of ideas, then we can justly demand of Mr. Wells that he revert to living types and leave his essentially ideational reflectors to their own devices—not before.

One of his recent works, "Babes in the Darkling Woods" is as good an example to examine as any of his earlier works. Here two lovers in their earlier intellectual twenties are experimenting with a rational sex life, without having undergone the formalities of marriage. The uncle of the female character is a psychotheropeutist and a course in behaviourist psychology is available to the reader in a rather easy manner. When Gemini, the male, gets himself banged up in the war, Stella nurses him back to health via love and psychosysnthesis; and they resolve on a course of action that will bring social betterment to a world so sorely in need of it.

However, the excitement lies not in the plot, but in the ideas that are thrown back and forth, and into which one can enter any time one wants to. Unless one is on Mr. Wells own level, his iconoclastic remarks concerning the concepts and ideals held by all of us are quite pertinent, and as far as inspirations and examples go his young couple do a pretty good job of resolving their life to get both pleasure and utility and higher social value out of it.

I remember that the London Times closed its review of that book by saying, "The truth is that Mr. Wells has grown impatient of the conservative and unadventurous mind, so intolerant of conventional habits of thought, that he finds increasing virtue in whatever scheme, or notion once had novelty for him." The review was unfavorable, yet to me this comment is more of a compliment than a denigration of his work. Tolerance extends to the future; not to the parasitic deadweight of the past, and it is this deadweight of ideas that takes a beating from Mr. Wells.

On the negative side, however, there is no actual emotional development; neither is there any doubt worth getting into a dither about; neither is there any aesthetic desire apart from a somewhat colourless "truth-beauty" functionalism; and the ideas are too black and white in their delineation of the choices of action available to man. Somehow, I am reminded of Scott's writing in H. G. Wells—not literature, but the best popular novelist of his time with a universal appeal.

The Forest Mummery

—by Jebez

(From The Ubyssey.)

(EXTRACT)

THE LOGGING INDUSTRY is primarily for cutting trees. When it has cut enough trees it throws them in the water and they are washed up on the beach and make swell places for beach-fires. We should all, therefore, admire the logging industry and prevent forest fires, which annoy it very much.

The first thing needed for a logging industry is a forest, preferably a forest of trees. Trees have, on the whole, been found to make the best lumber, and every effort should be made to start a logging industry in a region where there are trees.

LOGGING FOR BEGINNERS

Trees are usually found by a man called a surveyor, who goes out with his dog and finds all the trees you want by keeping away from cities and highways. The dog has been found invaluable for this purpose, and has his own sleeping quarters, called a pup-tent.

Once a tree has been found, a man with a Swedish accent is sent out to cut it down. This man, known as a "faller," can easily be identified by the fact that he yells "timber!" just before the tree falls down.

Unfortunately, if you are close enough to a faller to hear him yell "timber!" you will probably be killed by the tree when it falls down. This is known as workman's compensation and is quite popular.

Besides his axe and his Swedish accent, the faller must take along a friend who is a "bucker". This man saws the big tree, once it is felled, into a lot of little trees, making it look like more and fooling the company.

DONKEY SERENADE

Wherever the faller and bucker go they are followed by a donkey. This donkey pulls itself along by means of a line attached to a winch. By turning the winch, the line shortens until the donkey is fairly close to the tree. Then some more men, called "chokermen," approach the tree and choke it with a line attached to the winch of the donkey. When they think they have choked the tree enough, the chokermen shout at a little man sitting on a stump.

LETTER FORUM

CHARITY CAMPAIGN

To the Editor,
McGill Sily.
Dear Sir,

Through the medium of the Letter Forum, we would like to express our thanks to every McGill student who contributed in any way to the success of the recent Charity Campaign.

To the leading classes, faculties, and to the Class Presidents in particular, goes a special vote of appreciation. The measure of their enthusiasm was clearly reflected in the final returns, which appeared in the Daily.

It is apparent to everyone that there is really no outward reward for the long hours of canvassing. The knowledge, however, that McGill students have had a share in the work of the organizations benefitted should give some feeling of satisfaction.

Yours very truly,

STUDENT MEETING

To the Editor,
McGill Daily.
Sir:

We understand that a Students' Society meeting will be held some time before the election for student offices on March 5. In view of the growing interest in the matter it is very important that such a meeting be held as soon as possible to permit discussion of programs and issues.

Furthermore we feel that a meeting must be arranged for Dawson College.

In accordance with the precedent set and promise given at the last Students' Society meeting, we urge that the Faculties be approached in such a manner that the meetings will be held at 4 o'clock. This could be arranged with the same degree of cooperation that was forthcoming at the last Students' Society meeting.

We therefore urge that the programs of the candidates at least those of the candidates for the position of President of the Students' Society and that of President of the McGill Union, be published in the Daily by Thursday of this week and that the meeting be held for Friday at the latest.

LIBERTIES

The Editor,
The McGill Daily,
Dear Sir,

Through the columns of your newspaper I wish to comment on the serious violation of our civil liberties which the government of Canada is indulging in at the present time.

In the last few days we have seen police officer enter, search and seize, without a warrant; the writ of habeas corpus suspended; persons denied legal counsel or communication with public, and tried in secrey. All of these things, diametrically opposed to the fundamental conceptions of liberty have been legalized by "Special order in council" under the War Measures Act. While admittedly the situation is an extenuating one, the fact remains that a precedent has been set and a principle violated so that any one of us, should the government desire, could be seized in our homes, incarcerated indefinitely, and tried without knowledge of the event reaching the public or even our families.

Some may say that such wide powers held by the government are only used when the situation demands drastic action. Unfortunately the number of situations which require the violation of our liberty is becoming alarming large and varied. The government refused to declare the Padlock Law ultra vires, and through the War Measures Act declared political freedom unlawful. It wished to remove the citizenship and forcibly deport the young Canadians of Japanese ancestry. Along with recent activity it has created a theory of liberty within the state such that one may be:

(1) Limited in political activity and denied freedom of assembly.

(2) Forcibly de-naturalized and the privileges of citizenship thereby removed.

(3) At the secret wish of the government, seized and indefinitely removed from society with only one's protestations as defence.

In the past the undemocratic activity of the government has been directed at individuals who were felt to be foreign to our culture. Last week, however, civil servants professors, and scientists found themselves without civil liberties and in grave danger. The government has admitted that they were guided in their arrests by the political ideology of the defendants. We may well ask ourselves—"who next will disappear from our community, and for what cause?"

It is unfortunate that a man such as Mackenzie-King, who has so long professed the philosophy of liberty, should finally be so swayed from his conscience that he will perhaps be remembered more as a threat to our civil liberty than as an architect of Canada's nationhood.

The fundamental which has become patent in our governments attitude to liberty is one which should arouse all students. From the principle that the individuals life, liberty and pursuit of happiness is the prime telos of the state, the government has veered to the purely facist concept of the individual's subservience to the state. Since the universities have forever been the cell of liberty in our British tradition, it is necessary that we strongly condemn this present precarious state of our freedom.

Outward Bound

(From the Sheaf)

So, safely launched, the ship's set free
Of groaning timbers, and the oily waste
From well greased slips, still swirls
In sun-lit rainbows round her bow.

Hurrah! Full steam ahead!
The sailors wave their caps.

Thus, proudly launched, the crews fall to.
Their straining sinews, equal to the task,
Set tried-true rigging. Fore 'n aft,
"The Year" is ready for her run.

Senior Puck Squad Loses at St. Hyacinthe

O'Connor, Hale Missing As Saints Hand Redmen Second Loss of Season

Spiller, Sinciair, G. Hale Shine But PHL Team Tops Locals

By BERNIE DUFRESNE

Minus Jimmy O'Connor and Tommy Hale, the local hockey club dropped an 8-6 decision to the Saints at St. Hyacinthe last night. It was their second straight defeat following a ten game winning streak.

Ernie Spiller replaced Hale at centre on a line with Sinclair and Georgie Hale and shared in the scoring honors on two of the Redmen's goals. This line accounted for half of the team's total.

The game was fast throughout and Millar drew first blood when he took Porteous' pass towards the middle of the first period. Millar replaced O'Connor between Porteous and Peirson. Vallieres tied it up two minutes later but George Hale converted Ernie Spiller's pass into a marker to put the Redmen in the lead as the period ended.

The break in the game came in the middle canto when Heron was waved to the penalty box for the only penalty handed out during the night. McGill couldn't withstand the power put on by the Saints and before they were at full strength again Lauzon and Bessette had combined to score two goals.

BEAT VARSITY

Heron had barely come back when the Saints scored two more fast goals. After that McGill failed to regain the lost ground despite a third period rally which netted three goals.

Badminton Play This Saturday Against Western

Universities Inaugurate New Canadian Collegiate Competitive Sport

Men's Badminton will enter the field of Canadian Intercollegiate sports with the playing of a tournament at the Currie Gym this Saturday. Western is the opposing college and they are sending their five man team to compete with the McGill quintet.

The tournament is being played along rather novel lines in that a form of "round robin" rather than an elimination playoff will be held. Each university is required to enter three singles players and two doubles teams. All matches will consist of best two out of three, 15-point games. Nine single and four doubles matches are scheduled. Three points will be awarded for each singles win and five points for each doubles victory; thus there will be 27 points for singles and 20 for doubles, making a total of 47 points for the entire meet.

Since at least two of the players on each team must play both singles and doubles it is planned to hold single play only on Saturday afternoon. Dinner will be had

Kandahar Ski Tourney On for This Weekend

Next Sunday the Red Birds Ski classic at Mont Tremblant. The Kandahar Downhill and Slalom Club are conducting the Annual Gorman-Kennedy trophy for Registered Ski Instructors will be awarded at this affair. As well the Kandahar Trophy will be given to the outstanding amateur skier of the meet.

This race is opened only to men in Class A or B, but McGill expects a large representative attendance at the meet. Entries from McGill students will be accepted at the Athletic office up until 5.00 p.m. today. As well entries may be mailed in to P.O. Box 244, Station B, Montreal. Such entries will only be eligible if received on Thursday.

Each entry must be accompanied by a fee of $1.25 and no telephone entries will be considered.

M.O.C. Holds Annual Park Slide Tonight

The annual park slide night atop Mount Royal is scheduled to get underway at 8.00 o'clock Monday evening, March 4th, and the Outing Club are planning to make it one of the biggest sports specials on the campus this season.

The toboggan slide is in perfect condition and the nominal fee includes use of the slide and toboggans. For those who have not had the thrill of breezing down this slide at close to 50 miles an hour this event will be a main feature.

Varied Entertainment

Aside from the toboggan slide revelers at the Park Slide Thursday night will have the choice of skating on Beaver Pond or skiing on the illuminated hill before adjourning to the clubhouse for dancing and refreshments.

Tickets for the Park Slide night, for the modest fee of $1 a couple may be obtained from any of the following M.O.C.'ers, Don Coates, Charlie Van Wagner, Viv Cullen, Elliot Young and Gord Lindsay, or from the Tuck Shop, Fred in the Engineering Building and Walter in the Arts Building.

The Park Slide Night is open to all McGill Students whether or not they are members of the Outing Club and all graduate M.O.C.'ers. In past years this event has been very successful and the joymakers have enjoyed a full night of festivities and this year should be no exception.

Inter Pucksters To Play Today

Red Squad Travels To Loyola Arena For Initial Match

Tomorrow evening the McGill Intermediate hockey team will for the first time meet the Loyola squad. Travelling to the west end team's home ice the Red squad will play its fifth game of the year.

Having played and beaten Bishop's College twice, tied the Macdonald team and lost a close 5-4 game to Dawson the pucksters are ready for the match. They will be at full strength carrying twelve men to the hockey battle.

This Saturday they will again travel to Macdonald to play the last league game of the year. Due to postponements, however, because of adverse weather conditions, two games scheduled to have been played during the regular season will be played after the loop's end. These two tilts will be against Dawson and Loyola.

McGill lineup is as follows: Pope, Chalmers, Smythe, Kerr, McGlade, McBoyle, Layton, Reade, Pittfield, Wregg, Frosst.

Shipmates Upset "Y" Georgians Enter Finals

In the senior M.B.L. tilts played at the Currie Gym last night the Shipmate quintet came through with the upset of the season when they downed the Y.M.H.A. Blues by a 32-30 count while Georgians had little trouble in disposing with the Southwestern "Y" entry, 57-42, to advance to the finals when they will meet the winner of the next Y.M.H.A.-Shipmate tilt. High man for the Georgians was Robertson with 12 points while Ronnie Wilson with 22 was top man for the Southwestern squad. Ronnie Blackburn paced the Shipmates with 12 points and Morein with 11 led the Mount Royal gang.

TWO BLUE STREAKS

WALLY HALDER (left) and BILL KOSSICK, Ace Bailey's two reliable sparkplugs, have led the Blues for four Intercollegiate wins and both are headed for Maple Leafs. Wally is the league's top scorer, while Bill is Varsity's "Ace" troubleshooter.

Pucksters Out To Break Toronto Four Game Jinx

The Thompson trophy, emblematic of Intercollegiate hockey supremacy, may be decided by a play-off series for the first time in its long history if McGill's Redmen can even off with Varsity Blues on Friday night at the Forum. As far as can be ascertained, the league lead has never been in doubt after the regular scheduled games have been completed.

In case of a tie the CIAU governing body must decide the manner of determining the champion. The most logical and most often used system is the play-off idea, and it is expected that the authorities will take advantage of it to decide the Intercollegiate hockey championship. Should McGill lose the return game with the Blues, then all thoughts of play-offs will be dismissed and the Blues will be undisputed champions.

The local squad's first task is to beat the Toronto team on Friday and last night's warm up at St. Hyacinthe combined with daily practices all this week should put the Redmen in shape to do just that. Dave Campbell's squad isn't used to losing as last week's defeat in Toronto was their first this season.

The record set up by Ace Bailey's men is just as impressive. Two Toronto men, Kossick and Halder, have impressed the N.H.L. Maple Leafs sufficiently to be placed on the Leafs' list. Halder is leading the league in scoring and Kossick is noted for his deadly shot.

BEAT VARSITY

The Redmen will be out to break a jinx which has run through three seasons. In that time Toronto have beaten the locals four times in a row. In the 1939 season Toronto won the second of a two-game series. They took both games and the Thompson trophy the following year and, after a wartime layoff, they continued their winning ways last weekend on home ice.

A record crowd is expected to watch the arch rivals on Friday night as the Redmen have every intention of bringing the trophy back to its accustomed niche in the Currie gym.

Quebec Squash Tourney Opens

Class B Play Opens As McGill Gets Wins By Culver, Matthias

Last night the opening guns were fired in the Quebec Class B Squash Singles being played on the McGill courts. The most exciting match of the evening was between McGill's Don Farlinger and Fred Gussow of Atwater. Don lost the first two games but came back strongly tie the count at 2-2 only to lose the final game in overtime 17-16.

McGill's two wins were registered by Dave Culver who walked through Dave Matthias 3-0 and Al Gillespie who squeezed out McFarlane 3-2. Carl Wiele, Pete Kenrick, Guy Lefaivre and Clary Booth the four seeded stars from the MAAA all advanced into the second round which will be played this evening from 5.30-7.00.

First round results: Wiele def. Trower 3-0, Bradley def. Hampson (McGill) 3-0, Bishop def. D. Stairs (McGill) 3-1, Parker def. Finley (McGill) 3-0, Gravel def. Red Rifle Team Loses Trophy

Mount Royal Squad Emerges Triumphant With 3 Point Score

Mount Royal Rifle team defeated McGill last night at the Currie range by taking three out of a possible four points. Three relays were run off and one point was awarded for each. The fourth point was awarded for the highest aggregate score.

McGill won the first relay; Mount Royal took the second and the third was won by Mount Royal only after Bourke and Hampton shot twenty rounds to break the original tie.

On the aggregate score the locals were nosed out by one point, taking the short end of a 1499-1498 count.

Dodd's Trophy at Stake As Local Red Hoopsters Oppose Y.M.H.A. Team

Both Teams at Full Strength For Unofficial City Title Tilt

YMHA basketballers will tackle the senior Redmen tomorrow night in the annual tussle for the Dodd's cup. The game is scheduled to get underway at Currie Gym at 8.15.

The present cupholders, Georgians, ended up out of the running this year and the MBL champions will try to keep the trophy away from McGill for another year. At any rate a new winner will be decided on Thursday night.

On the season's record the Blues are favored to cop the game for in both meetings the northenders have come out victorious. The two games were closely contested, the locals losing each by only four points.

BEAT VARSITY

When they met last time, YMHA eked out a victory in the closing minutes of the contest. In the season's opening game the Redmen led their opponents at the half way mark but faded in the last twenty minutes.

McGill wil lbe at full strength with Captain George Davidon leading his team onto the floor. Roth, Hoyle, Goodwin and Greenburg will be on hand to try to recapture the coveted trophy. YMHA will present the same star-studded lineup that won the MBL championship this year. Among their more prominent stars are Maxie Waxman, who walked away with the scoring championship, Ditkofsky, Morein and Richman.

Silver Arrow Awards For Local Archerettes

Shooting to win the Silver Arrow is the main event of the year for the Archerettes. The Silver Arrow was presented to the Archery Club by the M.W.S.A.A. in 1932. At the beginning, this award was granted to the person with the highest score both from the indoor and outdoor tournaments.

For the past few years, however, there has been no outdoor tournament, so that it has been given to the top-scorer of the indoor one. The winner will be presented with the Silver Arrow at the M.W.S.A.A. banquet in late March, and will be allowed to keep it until next spring when it will be contested once more.

This year there will be six rounds shot to make up the score. Shooting will begin on Monday, March 4.

At the same time, the scores of the individual archerettes will be retained to be averaged in their section. An average score for each section has been decided upon, for the numbers of co-eds entering from different sections vary greatly.

C.I.C.

The McGill Student Chapter of the Chemical Institute of Canada will present another open meeting in the large lecture theatre of the Chemistry Bld., on Thursday at 5.00 p.m. The speaker will be Mr. T. W. Smith, Manager of the Patent Department of Canadian Industries Ltd. Mr. Smith has been with C.I.L. since 1915 and has held such positions as chemist, superintendent, works manager, technical adviser and assistant manager. He is now in charge of the patent department as well as Chairman of the Division Managers' Committee. Mr. Smith has long been active with Canadian chemical organizations, among them the Society of Chemical Industry and the Patent Institute of Canada, of which he is a past president.

The title of the address will be "Patent Law and the Scientist." This talk should be of great interest to all chemistry, engineering and law students, and the chairman, Joshua Fitch, extends a welcome to all.

PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE CLUB

A meeting of the members of the Progressive Conservative Club will be held at 1:00 p.m. today in the Union to discuss the Mock Parliament, to be held tonight. George T. Annett will speak in the House for the Club. The Party has not moved an amendment because the Government is asking the House to give it power to take action in a crisis, a justifiable request and on which we will not impede in any way. This does not imply confidence in the L.P.P. Government, for we have absolutely none.

INTER VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Captain Gordon Thomas M.D. will be the guest speaker at the I.V.C.F. luncheon which is being held in Student House, 3445 Peel Street, at 1 p.m. today. Captain Thomas is a recent graduate of McGill and is now specializing in Neuro-surgery in the Neurological Institute. The list for the luncheon is full but there will be plenty of room at 1.30 p.m. for those who would like to hear Dr. Thomas.

Also taking place today in Student House is a special Bible Study led by Dr. W. S. Ried of the McGill history department. This is one of a special monthly series designed to acquaint the student with the broad outlines of The Bible and to provide a background for the more intensive weekly Bible study.

McGILL LABOR PROGRESSIVE PARTY CLUB

A caucus meeting of all members and supporters of the L.P.P. Club will take place tonight at 7 p.m. in the Board Room of the McGill Union. The Housing Bill and its presentation at the Mock Parliament will be discussed. Motions to be tabled will be assigned to Cabinet Ministers, and all other final preparations for the session will be made. It is vital that all members and supporters attend this important meeting.

HILLEL

Saturday night there will be an informal dance in the Union Ballroom to conclude the campaign week of the United Jewish Students' Appeal. The tickets, at $1.25, are being sold to all McGill students and anyone can find out where to buy them by phoning HA. 9171. Music at the dance will be provided by Don Cameron's orchestra.

Hillel members: Make this campaign a success, by contributing the amount of each students' quota or more. Canvassers will contact each individual student.

"B" Group: Gilmour-Taylor, Levy-Winthrop, Seale-Watson, Davidson- Fingland, Morin-Eadie, Hopton-Dohn, Barbeau-Fitzpatrick, Easterbrook-Thurber.

INTER VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

Gordon Thomas M.D. a recent graduate of McGill will be the guest speaker at the I.V.C.F. luncheon this week. A list has been posted on the notice board in Student House 3445 Peel street and will all those who would like to come please sign it as soon as possible. The lunch is being held in Student House at 1 p.m. on Wednesday February 27.

A special Bible Study led by Dr. W. Stanford Reid of the McGill history department is also taking place on Wednesday and in the same house but at 5 p.m. The study is one of a monthly series designed to acquaint students with the broad outlines of the Bible and to provide a background for the more intensive weekly Bible Study. All students are invited to attend both these events.

HISTORICAL CLUB

There will be a meeting of the Historical Club on Thursday night at 8.15, at the home of Maurice Lafrance, 4129 Western Avenue, Westmount. R. G. Barry, graduate student in history, who is at present working on his M.A., an authority in Chinese history, will be the speaker. The topic with which he will deal is: "A short history of China."

History students are cordially invited. After the meeting, refreshments will be served.

Dawson Night Will Be Held In Union

Tickets on Sale In Tuck Shop Starting Saturday

Secretary-Treasurer Jeakins of the Dawson College Students Council announced yesterday the purchase and installation of two new motion picture projectors in the Dawson College Theatre. The two projectors have been purchased by the Students Council due to the impossibility of obtaining moving pictures from companies who supply their own. These companies were forced to charge more for the show than the average student could afford and Mason and Mason and Company who supplied movies at the beginning of the year were forced to abandon Dawson due to the fact that they were running at a loss.

Two projectors were purchased so as to afford a continuous show without breaks for reel changes. Shows will probably begin by next week though nothing definite has been announced as yet.

In addition to this, the snack bar has reduced its prices so that it is now serving ice-cream sodas, sundaes, and hot dogs at cost. Bowling is now five cents per string and this sum is the pay of the pin boy.

Higher prices for these were charged previously due to the fact that considerable expense was involved in the opening of the snack bar, but now that these expenses have been for the most part defrayed, the cost has been lowered on all things sold.

Dawson College Entertainment Makes Stride

Snacks and Movies Provided Students For Cost Prices

By D. C.

Dawson Night will be the order of affairs at McGill next Thursday night, March 7, when Dawson's retiring Students' Council bows out with its farewell dance. With the Dawsonaires orchestra giving a farewell performance, dance chairman Harvie Walford promises a truly gala affair. The Union Ballroom, which will be the site of Dawson Night, will be decorated by Ray Charton, the man who made such a fine job of decorating the Dawson gymnasium for the house-warming dance in November. The decorating committtee promises something entirely new in the field of making a ballroom look like a ballroom. Just what this decoration is will cost anyone who wants to know $1.25, and for that price he may bring his girl friend and dance the evening away.

Tickets for the dance will go on sale at Dawson tomorrow. The sale will be under the able guidance of Laurie Hutchison, who will have the names of the salesmen and their stations on the dance posters, which are at present decorating the campus. McGill students may obtain their tickets at the Union Tuck Shop starting Saturday for $1.25.

A number of guests will be present at the dance, including Vice-Principal Gillson, Professors Craig, Williams, and Marshall, Dick Balfour, Marilie Cayford, Charles Wasserman and H. A. Richter.

An added attraction at the dance will be the romantic crooning of Dawson's own nightingales, Gerry Isman and Bill Adamson, whose discovery was made by the Dawsonaires orchestra leader, Bill Connelly, and who made such a hit at the house-warming dance.

Entropy — Symphony
By Ted

Entropy—introduced to me,
In Thermochemistry.
I tear out my hair for thee.
Entropy—absorb it step by step,
And you'll get really hep
To what's called Entropy.
First you think, that slowly you're going mad,
And at this point, to quit you'd be very glad.
Entropy—come to me.
Then it comes, and through your brain it runs,
And finally you see,
You've conquered Entropy.

— with Georgie

Drip — Drip — Drip . . . . DROOP!!! Ah, got the d..... leak on the first try. Yes sir, six months of practical experience down under, and droops become a second nature. However, now that the E.U.S. has installed its next year's executive, we will vacate our vantage position under, . . . and usher in our successor, Dave Townsend, the new Publicity Manager, who, undoubtedly will find the Sink as potent a source of inspiration and Plumbing outlet, as we have. In passing, I would like to extend my thanks and appreciation to Guy Mantha of Eng. II, and Edmund Lehman of Eng. I, at Dawson, who both have helped considerably in the presentation of Engineering Condensate via the "Sink", and I hope Dave will find assistants as faithful as I have.

ENGINEERING NEWS

Flash . . . Flash . . . Flash . . . E.U.S. Election Interest Hit New Peak. In the recently held E.U.S. executive elections, an all-time record of voting percentage was recorded which proves in just another way, the general spirit and aggregate interest of the Engineers. The slate of candidates fully justified the intensity of interest shown, and we can all feel proud of the top-notch officers elected. Ritchie Ward, who emerged victorious in the four-cornered presidential race, hails from the woolly west and has a bountiful store of experience in student affairs, garnered at the "U" of Manitoba and here at McGill. Supported by the Council of Don Mooney, and Doug Follet, 1st and 2nd Vice-President; Dave Townsend, Publicity Manager; Kent Richardson, John Woodcock and Walter Hood, Treasurer, Secretary and Assistant Secretary respectively, the E.U.S. is certain to chalk up another record year of activities for 1946-47.

HEARD ON MAIN AT BARTONS'

Our Engineering Debating Society is still right in the groove on verbal battlefronts. In the last debate of the season with R.V.C., Friday, March 1, at 5 p.m. in Room 33, Dave Townsend and George Goring, both of Eng. II, will contest the Amazons' resolution: "Since men and women are equal in the eyes of the law, resolved, that they be equal also on a social basis". A lot of grounds for contention.

With sports winding up their schedules, the sport awards of honor, big and little "E's", will soon be sported by their respective recipients. The executive awards will also be published soon, and with the extensive and fruitful work of our last E.U.S. framework, the list of merit will no doubt be long.

DAWSON LETTER

Dear Georgie:

Sorry you did not make the Presidency grade, Georgie, but the best man must win. However we hope that this does not mean the end of your E.U.S. activities.

Life is speeding up here at Dawson . . . . "I'll stick, check, I bet two . . . ." Yes sir, with the mid-term tests about over, and finals all of six weeks away, the slide-rule pushers have returned to their usual diet of beer and blackjack. The Science boys are still talking about the wonders of higher maths as revealed in part the other day by a Plumber, to wit: e to the i equals minus I.

Oh, and don't forget to tell everyone that March 7th is Dawsonite, a date for a date to date.

Love, Ed.

ENGINEER OF THE WEEK

This week we appropriately polish up our spotlight and turn it right back to the Electrical field where we single out Leo Hammerschmid for our star selection. Leo, a Plumbing circuit and general live-wire is President of the Electrical Club and keyman behind the electrical organization which turned out the magnificent job of lighting for our Plumbers' Ball. Aided by such sparkers as Olli Lauren and Larry Snelgrove, Leo also carried out the blinking effects for the Junior Prom and the Med Ball. Good show Leo, we certainly hope that your followers carry on the precedent.

CANADIAN CAMPUS
FOOT-LOOSE LOVE

COMPILED BY THE VARSITY

This week Canadian Campus uncovered the astounding truth that across Canada, on all the dominion's campi, there is not a single 'Lover's Lane"! Nevertheless each spring with the warm breezes, the budding violets, and the slushy streets "a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," and students seem to find satisfactory substitutes for "the Lane"!

For instance with spring just one month away, poets at McGill have waxed lyrical over the lack of a suitable byway.

There is no Lover's Lane at McGill!
The thought of it all makes me ill.
There is no place to spoon,
Or to gaze at the moon,
Or to plan weddings in June,
At McGill!
But still among the co-eds,
There is neither woe nor tears—
They've been getting by quite easily
For years and years and years

Queen's University

Nor do students at Queen's find themselves at too great a disadvantage. There a path winds through the "so-called" centre of a scholar's life, the library. Students walk in one by one, and stroll out two by two, after an interval of casual smiles and significant glances over book tops. The majority of dates are manufactured here and it seems to be the general meeting place for lovers.

Mount Allison University

Again at Mount Allison University according to reports, "there is passion, passion everywhere but still no Lover's Lane." However the sweet nothings which penetrate the stillness of the night from all the highways, byways, and doorways go to show that love will, and does, find a way. And then there is always the long way home.

The University of Alberta

The University of Alberta's Pembina Hall is said to be a busy place around the 11.30 deadline hour, when a last good-night kiss is bestowed and the co-ed makes a final dash for security. Blinded by the radiance of That Intangible Thing, it has been reported that a male escort, in a confused state, mistakenly kissed the night watchman.

Acadia University

At Acadia University there is little need of a specific "lane," for situated in the country, the college has myriad walks for young lovers. A favorite leads to a secluded stile. The point is, there is but one stile to race for. Again there is the duck pond, with rustic benches in the appropriate spots about the edge. The college woods, the brook, and the orchard are all a part of Acadia's "Lover's Lane."

University of Manitoba

Fort Garry Drive in the environs of the University of Manitoba has its attractions on moonlit nights—even cloudy nights. In fact cloudy nights are better, say some.

University of Toronto

But perhaps the nearest approach, on a campus, to this disputed necessity, is the Philosophers Lane at the University of Toronto. Behind the Economics Building the path winds its way south to Trinity College. There is but one drawback . . . the many bright lights which have been erected. Surely the moon and stars should be sufficient.

Physiotherapists Arrange Dance for Friday, Mar. 1

By McGill

Friday, March 1st holds high promise for McGill students. In anticipation of a Redmen hockey victory over Varsity, the Physiotherapists plan to lead a cheering line right up to the door of the Union Ballroom.

Once there, the music of Don Cameron and his orchestra will entice couples to break down the doorman's resistance by proffering a $2.00 bill, and spend a very enjoyable evening that's scheduled to start at 10 p.m. and end at 2 a.m.

Besides dancing, the Physiotherapy Informal will help you get in the mood with an up to the minute floor show that includes a skit as well as their well rehearsed chorus line.

It's all for a good cause, too, folks. The Bone Benders are trying to raise funds for a Physic house. So in case you don't want to miss a good time, rush to the Medical Building, the Tuck Shop, or trip any Physio student and get your ticket now.

THE INTERN INTONES

I have no stomach for a wife,
Who's just a rib and full of strife.
I want a mate whose metalarsals
Help support two shapely parcels.

Give me a cheerful liver, too,
Who'll smile at me and not boo-hoo.
She'll have no bladder full of gall,
And will not mind a midnight call.

With never a cry or sleepy curse,
She'll leave our bed to be my nurse.
(If in the dark she barks her skin,
She'll take it like a sport, and grin.)

My Bella Donna, lacking spleen,
Will dote on services swabbed clean.
For me her heart will palpitate
But never murmur when I'm late.

In other words: I want a gal
Who'll really be my pard,
One minus halitosis
Or arteries to hard.

To her I'll send neuroses,
Even symptoms by the ream...
But tell me where to find her,
My medicated dream?
—M. H. M.

NFCUS Committee Will Meet To Discuss Constitution Changes

The permanent committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students (N.F.C.U.S.) will meet Thursday, Feb. 28, at one p.m. in the Board Room of the McGill Union; the purpose of the meeting is to discuss the changes to the N.F.C.U.S. Constitution suggested by the Constitution Committee (R. J. Balfour, D. Doheny, Miss M. Cayford) of the Students' Executive Council at their meeting last Thursday.

One of the changes proposed is that the committee shall submit a programme of its intended activities to the S.E.C. for approval. The committee shall be authorized to carry on all aspects of its work, only in regard to those activities previously approved by the Students' Executive Council.

The N.F.C.U.S. Executive suggests instead that "the Committee shall be authorized to carry on all aspects of its work, in regard to those activities within the programme approved by the Students' Executive Council." It is felt that this would preserve a minimum of the autonomy necessary if N.F.C.U.S. is to carry on its work.

The S.E.C. proposes that the Chairman shall be appointed by the Students' Executive Council from outside the Council. N.F.C.U.S. Executive suggests instead that the Chairman be elected from the Committee as are the other members of the Executive; it is felt that the presence of one representative of the S.E.C. on the Executive of the Committee is sufficient to fulfill the need for liaison between the S.E.C. and the N.F.C.U.S. Committee.

All Constitutional changes are definite determinants of the success of any group.
